Dear George:

To set the record straight on a minor item, please add the names of [redacted] to the list of names on contract technicians being supplied under our Purchase Order 25-30216.

As discussed by phone on 8 November, your approval is requested for four thousand hours of design and drafting time to augment our personnel during the next few months when a large number of drawings will be required in connection with the System 4 construction program. The labor is to be procured from [redacted]

25X1A

[redacted] the rate will be $5.25 for design engineers and $4.25 for draftsmen. A copy of the Purchase Order No. 25-30983 is attached. This is the same company and at the same rate for the draftsmen which we procured earlier in support of System 2. They proved to be quite suitable and offered the lowest labor rate available.

25X1A

As before, the personnel will be segregated in the plant and will be assigned to unclassified portions of the project work. Your written authorization for procurement of this contract labor is requested.

On the six (6) Systems 1's recently transferred from Harry's order to the project, it is our understanding that you want a complete set of cables fabricated to go with these, but you do not want us to order any additional antennas at the present time. Nor were antennas or cables ordered for the diversion of nine (9) systems from Harry's order made in your 10 July 1956 letter. We will plan to manufacture nine (9) sets of cables for this diversion also, but we will not change the quantity of antennas. It is [redacted]'s feeling that there may not be sufficient antennas ordered for the enlarged project needs.

Sincerely,

Bob
